WEALTH-TAX ASSAILED AT 'TEA PARTY'

Bostonians Call for Economy

Petition Sent to Roosevelt Denounces "Oppression, Confiscation, Waste"

BOSTON, July 29. (Exclusive)—Charges of "taxation without representation," "confiscation," and "unwarranted waste," rang in the Old South meeting house this afternoon when women of Boston and Massachusetts assembled to protest publicly against President Roosevelt's wealth-distribution tax program. In the same hall 162 years ago the Boston Tea Party was planned.

After short "tea party" exercises today the group paraded to the State House in buggies and automobiles, bearing protests against the present tax system and the proposed bill.

PETITION TO PRESIDENT

Mrs. J. Harlor Blaisdell, Winchester Women's Club leader, read a petition, which was presented to Gov. Curley. It said in part:

"We, free citizens of a free nation, jealous of the heritage bequeathed to us by our forefathers, view with concern the encroachment of the Federal government upon the rights and liberties guaranteed under the Constitution of the United States. We view with concern the unwarranted waste of the savings of the thrifty upon unsound experiments, which are not bringing relief or prosperity to the nation but which are breaking down the moral fiber of the American people and are piling up debts it will take generations to pay.

DEMAND FOR ECONOMY

"We proclaim our demand for economy in government and a balanced budget as measures to obviate excessive and oppressive taxation, and as the only road to prosperity for all our people.

"We call upon His Excellency, the

Roberta Semple in Love With Ozark Country

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) July 29. (AP)—Roberta Semple, blonde daughter of Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson, emerged from Arkansas's Ozark hill country today with glowing tribute for the region and its people she said had "made an Arkansan out of me."

"I have never seen anything surpassing the region's natural beauty and climate anywhere, not even in California," declared Roberta on her arrival here for a rest before continuing her trip to her home at Los Angeles. She plans to leave here next Saturday.

Giant Wreck Found by Lusitania Divers

Salvage Ship Charts Huge Hulk Seven Miles Off Old Head of Kinsale Near Where Liner Sank

The Times herewith presents exclusively in this area another epic in the dramatic narrative describing the expedition which is seeking to salvage the secrets which went down with the Lusitania when that vessel was torpedoed by a German U-boat in 1915.

ABOARD SALVAGE SHIP ORPHIR, July 29. (Exclusive)—The excitement of a new hope, more clearly defined than any that has gripped the imagination of the thirty men aboard, abounds throughout the Orphir tonight after a day spent in charting the exact spot occupied by a bulky wreck which Capt. Russell says he is "almost convinced" is the sunken Lusitania. The huge hulk beneath us lies approximately seven miles off the old head of Kinsale, well inside the area designated by Capt. Turner of the Lusitania as that within which the liner disappeared beneath the surface of the water.

Shortly after dawn this morning, we steamed out of the cove near Kinsale where we had spent the night. Behind us the sun rose brighter in the heavens, throwing long silhouettes of trees across the bay we rapidly left behind. Capt. Russell directed his course straight for the buoy marked with a white flag which he had dropped a week ago to mark one possible location of the Lusitania. The sea was calm and clear.

GIANT HULL CHARTED

Quickly we reached the buoy and our speed was cut. In the control room our echo sounding expert, William Stephens, began to chart the bed beneath us. Slowly we rounded the buoy.

Suddenly there was a quick cry, a command from the bridge. Seamen astern heaved over the anchor of a second marking buoy topped with a red flag, not more than 300 yards from the first position. I dashed to the bridge and found the echo sounding apparatus again had charted "a" outlines of a giant hull. I hailed me excitedly.

"I something there, something

In ever narrowing circles the Orphir was maneuvered about the buoy, its area as small as her speed and rubber would permit. Capt. Russell ordered that we signal hand sport and a starboard by turn.

THIRTEEN FATHOMS HIGH

There came a second shout that the wreckage had evidently been in the graph to a height of seventy-eight feet or thirteen fathoms. The

UNIVERSITY'S EX-HEAD DIES

Dr. Williams's Rise Unusual

COLUMBIA (Mo.) July 29. (UP)—Dr. Walter Williams, who rose to the presidency of the University of Missouri by way of the print shop and editorial office rather than through college classrooms, died today.

He was 71 years of age. An ailment with which he suffered for almost a year caused death at 8 a.m.

RESIGNED RECENTLY

Williams was forced to give up active work last winter. He resigned this spring and later was succeeded as university president by Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush.

He retained a connection with his journalism department, however, continuing as dean emeritus.

Williams's son, Edwin Moss Williams, sales manager of the United

Shrinking Man Up and Around After Operation

MINNEAPOLIS, July 29. (AP)—Hans Nelson, 52 years of age, the "shrinking man," who underwent an operation for the removal of overactive parathyroid glands in the hope it would halt the shrinking process, which had taken ten and one-half inches from his stature, today was in the Veterans' Hospital to be in satisfactory condition.

He is up and around at the hospital and is expected to return home in a few days.

Surgeons who performed the operation expressed no hope the operation would restore Nelson's lost height.

ETHIOPIANS' ARMY MOVES ON FRONTIER

Artillery Taken for Defense

Capital Welcomes 10,000; Women Demand Guns to Aid Warriors

ADDIS ABABA, July 29. (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie's field army from Southern Ethiopia swept through the capital today in the first large-scale military movement of the current Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

The troops, equipped with the most modern implements of war, supplied by the Emperor, departed soon after arrival for an undisclosed destination, reported to be the frontier of Eritrea, the Italian colony on the east.

The appearance of the modernly equipped and well disciplined troops excited the populace to enthusiastic demonstrations. The general mobilization has not been formally proclaimed and heretofore martial activities have been limited to drilling.

ARMS DEMANDED

The 10,000 troops under the command of Dedjazmatch Hapteemikael, former Cabinet Minister, marched from their quarters in Gama.

The wife of the commander, one of the highest of the nobility as the grand-daughter of Ras Tessamme, vice Regent of Ethiopia during Emperor Menelik's illness, demanded arms and volunteered to join the army and fight to her nation's defense. Authoritative sources expressed the belief the Emperor was seriously considering the request.

MACHINE GUNS READY

Following the passing of the troops, volunteers filled the streets engaging in military activities. Forty-seven Ethiopian-born Armenians called on Haile Selassie to offer themselves as soldiers of his army. The Emperor promised to call them later.

The gesture of Dedjazmatch Hapteemikael's wife in demanding arms fired other prominent women to enrolling activities.

The forces of the Emperor were khaki uniforms and were equipped with rifles, machine guns and artillery. They marched with spirit.

Government officials in protest meanwhile denied any knowledge of a clash at Wellisi, reported in the London press.

It was reported, without confirmation, today that a number of native Somalis had rebelled in Italian Somaliland and had started for Ethiopia in the region of Mustah. It was at Ualual, last December, that both Italians and Ethiopians were slain in a frontier incident.

FRENCH REINFORCE TROOPS IN SOMALILAND

PARIS, July 29. (AP)—The troops in French Somaliland were ordered reinforced today to guard against rifted disorders arising from the Italo-Ethiopian dispute in East Africa. Air force detachments and a battalion of Senegalese sharpshooters were sent to join the company already stationed there.

The reinforcements were ordered as a precaution against tribesmen in French territory, who are reported sympathetic toward Ethiopians, trying out fighting of their own.

Mexican Consul Goes to Havana

TUCSON (Ariz.) July 29. (UP)—Alejandro Y. Martinez, Mexican Consul here six months, and previously Consul in Los Angeles, has been transferred to Havana, Cuba. It was announced tonight by Daniel Chavez, Consulate secretary.

SANTIAGO (Chile) July 29. (UP)—Senora Mellide Cisterlds de Bello, 105 years of age, mother of Defense Minister Emilio Bello and one of the oldest women in South America, died today.

Clemenceau Assault on Wilson Described

PARIS, July 29. (UP)—The late Georges Clemenceau, "Tiger of France," seized the late Woodrow Wilson by the throat, spat in his face and called him "Boche, Boche," during the Versailles peace conference, L'Intransigeant said tonight.

The incident was described in memoirs of Sir J. Stull Thompson, former British intelligence service chief who guarded statesmen at Versailles. They included this bitter quarrel incident.

During peace conference discussion of the Saar, Wilson and Clemenceau already were near the breaking point when the "Tiger" offered Andre Tardieu's compromise solution.

Wilson rose, straightened his glasses and, replied France should have nothing to do with the Saar.

NAZIS LET UP ON JEWS AND CATHOLICS

Foreign Reaction Held Reason

National Vote of Confidence Considered by Hitler in Hurried Conference

BERLIN, July 29. (AP)—Nazi chieftains today called off their drive on "state enemies," it was learned from a high source.

According to this source, the suppression of Jews and Catholics was ordered "soft-pedaled" because of representations of the Nazi drive in foreign lands.

The decision was reached after a hurried council at the mountain retreat of Reichsfuehrer Hitler at Oversalzberg. In attendance, it was said, were Gen. Werner von Blomberg, Minister of War; Herman Wilhelm Goering, head of the secret police, and other Nazi leaders.

NAY CALL PLEBISCITE

Impressed with the political expedience of halting Publisher Julius Streicher's Jewish sticksores, the leaders at the week-end conference it was learned, considered whether to call a national plebiscite to show confidence in the Nazi regime.

The leaders were told of the inimical reactions abroad to moves against Jews, Catholics and the Black Helmets. They affected a change whereby Jews will be considered for military enlistment if they have only two Jewish grandparents, a proposal seen as the first breach in the non-Aryan warfare.

REACTION IN ENGLAND

A national police campaign was planned against individual acts of violence which made it plain that further pressure against Jews, Bolshevism and other "reactionaries" will be in the state's hands.

Special attention was reported to have been paid to reactions in England, with whom Germany seeks to cultivate a great friendship. The editor of the New York Jew who ran the Diar Bremen and Mayor La-Guardia's denial of a license to a German musician—also were discussed.

It was reported that Franz Seldte valnly sought an interview regarding the action against the Steel Helmets, which he heads.

ANTI-JEWISH STICKERS GONE

Further evidence that the tactics are abating is noticed in the removal of "Don't Buy From Jews" stickers from Jewish shops.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, ambassador extraordinary, and Hjalmar Schacht, head of the Reichsbank, were reported to have warned Hitler of the unfriendly reception of war veterans abroad of the Nazi fights, especially the suppression of the Steel Helmets.

Capitalsons also was taken of the possible effect of the state's policies on the 1936 Olympic Games, an

KIRKLAND'S WIFE WINS RENO SUIT

RENO, July 29. (AP)—Jack Kirkland, Hollywood playwright and former husband of Nancy Carroll actress, was divorced here today by Mrs. Jayne Shaddock Kirkland. The decree was granted at a closed door hearing on grounds of cruelty. They were married March 23, 1934, in Jersey City, N. J.

Mrs. Kirkland won an interlocutory divorce from Kirkland in Los Angeles last February. It was understood she sought the final decree in Reno in order to be married later this year to Jimmy Tobping, Jr., a New York socialite.

Miss Carroll is now here to divorce her present husband, Thomas Bolton Mallory, former magazine editor.

Kirkland is the author of "Tobacco Road" and other stage successes.

Prefers Omaha to New York

INVERTED STOMACH GIRL'S SISTER FLEES EAST BY AIR

NEW YORK, July 29. (Exclusive)—A report that Jean McHenry, 15 years of age, had run away from her parents in New York to fly back home to Omaha, Neb., disclosed what few outside her home city had known up to today, that Alice Jane McHenry, the little "upside down stomach" girl of Paul Rimer's Trucadale Sanitarium operation fame, has a sister.

She has been much of a forgotten girl in the shadow of her sister's nation-wide publicity, and her reported bold flight seemed a strong bid for attention until her brother, Mrs. Leslie McHenry, spiked the report with an emphatic denial.

"Jean was homesick, there's no denying that" Mrs. McHenry said at the hotel Shelton, "but she certainly did not run away. She went home with my permission, and we will join her there in three weeks."

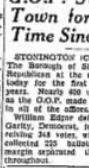
Alice is remaining in New York for seven tests to see whether she is to have a film career, Mrs. McHenry said.

G.O.P. Sweeps Town for First Time Since 1895

STONINGTON (Ct.) July 29. (AP) The Borough of Stonington went Republican at the annual election today for the first time in forty years. Nearly 400 votes were cast as the G.O.P. made a clean sweep in all of the offices.

William Edgar defeated John R. Gaffey, Democrat, for warden, receiving 348 votes, while the latter collected 225 ballots. A similar margin orphaned the candidates throughout.

Will Rogers Remarks:



BEVERLY HILLS, July 29. (To the Editor of The Times:) Say did you read about Mansfield's army being camped on a stream and the Abyssinians went above 'em and diverted the creek, and left 'em with no water (that's a dry country down there.) I can't imagine anything any more disconcerting to an army than to wake up in the morning and find the river hid from under you.

Modern armys have everything. But there is just something about a native in any country in the world. Where he seems to have more sense than any general army corps. Our old Apache Geronimo drove nineteen sets of United States Army officers "nuts." the Boers hid the Englishmen's tea for two years. Custer great, great, grand children in Mexico are still trying to whip the Yaquis. If I was going to fight somebody I would pick out the most civilized one I could find, cause they are the dumbest.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

HEAT SPELL TO CONTINUE

Angeles National Forest Area Closed as Mercury Soars in Southland

Continued warm weather and low humidity yesterday resulted in the closing of seven areas of the Angeles National Forest because of the extreme fire hazard.

Supervisor Mendenhall said the dry and hazardous areas will remain closed to all forms of recreation and special use except by special permission of the supervisor.

MERCURY SOARS

The mercury rose to 90 deg. in downtown Los Angeles again yesterday, repeating Sunday's maximum, and it was considerably warmer in some near-by valley and foothill areas. Glendale reported 94 deg. The minimum in Los Angeles yesterday was 68 deg.

Continued warm and generally fair weather today and tomorrow is forecast by the United States Weather Bureau, with gentle southeast to southwest winds prevailing.

With the foothills dry as tinder, Supervisor Mendenhall of the Angeles National Forest issued an edict closing 561 Lukens north of Montrose and La Crescenta and Brown Mountain north of Pasadena for all recreational or special use.

CANYONS CLOSED

The order also closed San Dimas, Dalton, Cattle, Coldwater and Cow canyons, all on the southwesterly slopes of San Antonio peak, northerly from San Dimas and Claremont and just west of the easterly Los Angeles county line.

Wolfskill Canyon will remain open as far as Wolfskill Falls, but not beyond, it was announced. Persons living in the closed canyons will be permitted access to their homes.

Huge Opium Haul Made by Raiders Aboard Ship

The largest opium seizure in the history of the port fell to the vigilance of United States customs guards under Special Agent Arthur Hansen yesterday at San Pedro, when the officers confiscated a cache of 508 five-tael tins aboard the Japanese liner Asama Maru.

Possession of the contraband, valued by Capt. Hansen at $76,350, aboard the M.Y.K. liner was revealed when a quartermaster, Y. Kaike, surprised a Chinese elevator boy, Tong Gai Wing, in the act of opening a manhole cover at the base of the elevator shaft.

Tung escaped and hid for awhile under the dock but slipped back aboard later and was surrendered to Capt. Hansen by members of the crew who discovered him in a shower bath.

Customs Guard Harry McDonald found the cache packed in a small compartment alongside the elevator shaft.

Capt. Hansen announced Tong confessed complicity in a plot to smuggle the opium. The elevator boy said he had been hired by a Hong Kong group, with instructions that confederates at the local harbor would identify themselves to him through one-half of a playing

FORMOSA HIT BY TYPHOON; LOSS HEAVY

Homes Collapse Before Gale

Trains Halted, Rivers Rising and Roofs Carried on Terrific Wind

TOKIO, July 30. (Tuesday.) (AP)—The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency reported today from Taihoku the whole island of Formosa is in the grip of one of the worst typhoons ever experienced there.

The central part of the island is reported suffering extensive and severe damage. The city of Shinchiku, which suffered from two disastrous earthquakes this year, is hard hit.

TRAINS HALTED

Trains ceased operating on the island and communication wires are down in many places. Large trees were uprooted, and lives were endangered by signboards and roofs flying through the air.

An unknown number of houses were destroyed in the thickly-populated areas. Sugar plantations were seriously damaged.

All streams are rising dangerously high in Central Formosa.

Taihoku was in darkness early today after the rising winds had damaged the power house.

CROSSING TOWARD CHINA

The typhoon is the third this season to hit Formosa.

Rengo reported a severe dust storm at Taichu, in the central part of the island, and lack of rain.

The typhoon is expected to cross Formosa and head toward China.

Intensive Ocean Quake Recorded

PASADENA, July 29. (AP)—A strong earthquake in the Western Pacific Ocean, 5400 miles from Pasadena, was recorded last night on instruments of the Carnegie Institute seismological laboratory.

The shock originated apparently 60 miles below the surface of the earth and no serious damage was believed to have occurred at the surface. The first wave was recorded at 10:10 p.m., with a maximum at 11:48 and the second wave 11:59 p.m.

Relief Head Fails as Dictator of Styles

WESTBORO (Mass.) July 29. (AP) A short-lived attempt of an emergency relief administrator to dictate feminine attire among relief workers ended tonight with the unqualified surrender of the administrator.

A few days ago Administrator William M. Crosby decreed that henceforth women employed on a sewing project must don corsets and stockings or quit their jobs.

Immediately came an outburst of feminine opposition which reached a point where the workers told Crosby they would take their fight for fashion freedom direct to Washington.

Tonight Crosby said: "I give up. They can wear what they want as far as I'm concerned. I can't be responsible for the morals of this town. I was simply doing what I thought was right."

King Boris Aids Village Firemen

SOFIA, July 29. (UP)—King Boris and Prince Cyril today turned firemen and worked with peasants in extinguishing flames at Kostrich village near the Dusringrad Royal Palace. The King ran to the fire when peasants asked permission to use water from the palace reservoir. He and the Prince returned covered with soot.
